IRON FURNACES.
IN all new established Colonies it appears highly necessary to use every means for moderating the price of labour, and for carrying on all kinds of manufactures with the greater facility, to which purpose mechanical contrivances seem particularly adapted; and as CHRISTOPHER COLLES, of Philadelphia, has made that branch of knowledge his favourite study, he gives this public notice, that he has lately thought of some things, and made some new inventions, which, he apprehends, may be exceedingly advantageous to this country, particularly a method whereby a furnace for extracting iron from its ore may be carried on, in any situation remote from water (where the ore and fuel may be convenient) upon an equal footing with those, whose proximity to water make their situation convenient. And also a cheap and simple machine to raise water to gentlemen's seats, and to water meadows; which contrivances he will execute for such as are willing to encourage him. Letters (post paid) directed to him, in Fifth-street, near the State-house, will be duly answered. ¶

TO BE SOLD,
In pursuance of the last will and testament of JOHN HUGHES,
deceased, by the Subscribers, Executors thereof, THREE LOTS of good LAND, situated in the township of Passyunk, and now in the possession of Sebastian Sunleider. The first lot, containing eight acres, joins the river Schuylkill, and ground formerly belonging to the reverend William Sturgeon, deceased, but now to Levi Marks:
The situation being high, and commanding an extensive and delightful prospect of the river and surrounding country, renders it a suitable place for a gentleman's seat, and the distance from the city is very convenient. On this lot are a number of apple trees, and it is enclosed with a good fence, of cedar posts and rails.

The second lot contains four acres, and lies at the junction of Passyunk and Rouse's roads, near the above-mentioned lot. On this two houses are erected; one of them built of brick, two stories high, the other of logs. There is also a well of good water, and a number of fruit trees on it.

The third lies upon Rouse's road, being bounded by ground of John Searson, and opposite John Britton's land, and contains near seven acres; part whereof is suitable for gardening, and the remainder for pasture.

Also to be sold, the moiety of a Steel Furnace and Lot of Ground, at the corner of Eighth and Walnut-streets, in this city, containing in breadth, on Walnut-street, 49½ feet, and in depth, on Eighth-street, 127½ feet. With this will be sold the moiety of a Lot in the town of Darby, in the county of Chester, containing 15 perches, whereon has been formerly a tilting hammer, for plating iron or steel, and which the purchaser will have a right to put up. The stream is sufficient for that or other water-works.

Also a House and two Lots in Easton, in Northampton county. The house has been formerly occupied as a tavern, is in good repair, and well situated. JOHN HUGHES,
Sept. 28, 1773. ¶ 6w. ISAAC HUGHES.

by the subscriber, who intends to carry on the Fulling Business, in all its branches, as usual. Customers, in town and country, and their work done in the neatest and best manner, and upon the very lowest terms. Enquire of JOHN KEY, living on the premises. ¶

Hunterdon County, New-Jersey, Sept. 20, 1773.
WHEREAS the subscriber having been concerned in company, in trade, and carrying on Iron-works, &c.
some years past, whereby they became greatly in debt, and the partners are all either dead or insolvent, and none left but himself, who finds it impossible for him to discharge said debts; and therefore intends to petition the legislature of the province of New-Jersey, at their next sitting, for relief in the premises.
And all those concerned are desired to take notice.

AS the Copartnership between CHRISTOPHERS and

Time past, and as repeated Solicitations to those who have been long in Arrears have been ineffectual, they once more request the immediate Discharge of their Accounts, to prevent their being under the disagreeable Necessity of putting them into a Lawyer's Hands to recover.

JUST OPENING, BY ROBERT PATTON,
At his Store, in the Town of Lebanon, near the Market-house,
A VERY large and general Assortment of Fall GOODS, which he will sell on the most reasonable Terms, for Cash, short Credit, or Country Produce.

As it is well known, that this store has always hitherto been well supported by him and Williams, and their partnership being now positively dissolved, he is determined, as formerly, to keep the most general assortment in town, having established a correspondence in Philadelphia, which will enable him to sell on the very lowest terms. He is further determined to reduce the price of his goods so low, as the carrying on a fair and just trade will possibly admit of. He also keeps smiths, carpenters, masons, joiners and shoemakers tools; and continues his iron store, where smiths may at all times be supplied with any quantity, and also with any particular sort, upon short notice being given, at as low a rate as the same is sold at Lancaster, or any of the neighbouring forges.

From the great encouragement he has met with in Lebanon, as well before as since the dissolving of the partnership between him and Mr. Williams, he is induced to take this opportunity to return his hearty and unfeigned thanks to the public in general, and to his friends and customers in particular, and intends, by the closest attention to business, and dealing on the strictest points of honour, to merit the continuance of their former favours; and flatters himself that all those, who for the future shall be pleased to favour him with their custom, shall have good reason to rest satisfied with his candour in business. ¶ 7/6.

(supposed to be taken with the horse) a good hunting saddle (without a cloth) almost new, and a snaffle bridle. Whoever apprehends the thief, so that the owner may recover his horse, saddle and bridle again, and the thief be brought to justice, shall receive TEN DOLLARS reward, or for the horse, saddle and bridle, EIGHT DOLLARS, or for the horse
only, SIX DOLLARS, paid by me

18 and 19 years of age, has fair curled hair, smooth face, by good workman, and has some tools with him. ¶

June last, from out of JOHN JORDAN's stable, in the Borough of Lancaster, a Saddle and Bridle, value One Pound

Lancaster prison; the said Bennet Herbert, after being prisoner, made his escape from Mercer's tavern, at the sign of the Duke of Cumberland, on the provincial road to Philadelphia, about tion of the man. Any person claiming said Horse, and clothing,

By the ROSAMOND, Capt. MILLER, arrived at New-York, from London, we have the following Advices, viz.

WARSAW July 22.

A COURIER, dispatched by Field Marshal Romanow to the Baron de Stackelberg, the Russian Minister at this place, has brought a confirmation of the victory gained by the Russians over the Turks near Silistria, in consequence of which Te Deum has been sung in the Russian Chapel here. But the joy attendant on this intelligence was much allayed, on learning that General Weismann was killed in the engagement by a cannon ball.

The following particulars are related concerning a late attempt against the King's life. As the King was returning a few days ago from Grybow, a feat belonging to the Countess Ogynski, the Lady of the Great General of Lithuania, the Sieur Dobel, his Majesty's Master of the Horse, came up to the King, and told him he thought he had better take another route, having some reason to suspect, from words which he had overheard, that the way he was in was not perfectly safe. The King thought proper to pay some regard to the advice he received, and went another way to his palace. Upwards of forty persons are already taken up for being concerned against the King's life.

Hamburg, July 27. Our letters from Hungary mention, that the passage of the grand Russian Army over the Danube has cost both them and the Turks a great number of men. The following is an account of the most material incidents: "General Stupachin, in order to cover the troops who were passing the river, marched beyond Silistria in the night of the 21st of June, and being advanced as far as a defile near the town, he was attacked by a Turkish detachment; the two parties fought with amazing courage, but the Turks were obliged at last to yield the passage to the Russians, after having some hundreds of their men killed and wounded, and their baggage, with 17 pieces of cannon, taken, they retired with great precipitation to Silistria; which place, as soon as the Russian army had all passed the Danube, was attacked and taken by the Russians, and part of the garrison cut to pieces. General Suwarow, who was coming to join the grand army another way, met a corps of 6000 Turks, commanded by Seri Mehemet Bey; the action was very warm, and the victory seemed doubtful for a long time, till Seri Mehemet being killed, it was determined in favour of the Russians. The Turks, after losing their brave Commander, fled to the mountains, and left their baggage and 13 pieces of cannon to the Russians. The Turks attempted to drive the Russians from an Island in the Danube, near Ruffig, where the latter had raised a battery, which was to defend the two branches of the River; the defence was not less courageous than the attack, and the Turks, notwithstanding their superiority in numbers, were obliged to give up the enterprise, and regain the other side of the River. It is said this affair cost them 3000 men."

LONDON, July 26.

Yesterday morning Sir Basil Keith, Governor of Jamaica, was married, at St. James's church, to Miss Warren.

We hear from Kirkwall, in Scotland, that a whale of an enormous bulk was lately stranded there, and on being cut up, the skeleton of a man was found in his stomach; the bones were soft like wax, and yielded to the slightest impression.

By letters from Prague we have advice, that Mr. Coulston, an English merchant residing in Bohemia, has lately received, by an emissary from her Imperial Majesty, the Empress Queen, a present of her Majesty's cypher set in diamonds, as a testimony of her Majesty's approbation, for the great relief given by that gentleman to the poor during the late scarcity of corn.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, July 12.

"Various are the reasons assigned for the arrival of the Count d'Aranda in France. Some attribute his leaving Madrid to a disgrace which does him honour, on account of his opposing an arbitrary faction, which moves heaven and earth to maintain its ground. It is said that the Count de Fuentes is appointed President of the Council of Castile in his room."

"It is said the marriage of the Count d'Artois will be celebrated on the 17th of November next, immediately after the return of the Count from Fontainebleau. The Count de Broglie is appointed to go to meet the Princess allotted for his Royal Highness."

"The Marquis de Louvois is said to be at the point of death, in consequence of a wound he received some time ago in a duel with the Marquis de Genlis."

A correspondent observes, that the people of Boston were always contented, easy and happy, under the mild and fair administration of Governor Pownall, yet, on his return home, he was not made a Baronet, nor had he a pension, or any other singular mark of favour; but his successors who, by inflammatory writings, and extraordinary conduct, have almost set every thing in flames in that country, have been loaded with honours, places, and pensions to themselves, and to their families.

The revolution of 1688 furnished us, says a correspondent, at once with reasons and an opportunity for improving the Constitution, and completing the scheme of liberty, so imperfectly laid down and abandoned in the reign of the first Charles; but as the means of supporting and establishing liberty increased, all concern for it diminished. Since that period the power of the Crown has been visibly increasing, and this government has been approaching to absolute monarchy. The cause of it is not only known, but publicly avowed. Corruption has been reduced to a system; it has become universal, and the peasant, situated at a distance from the pernicious influence of the Court, is possessed of it in as great a degree as the most servile attendant at the Minister's levee.

A few days since, Mrs. Wright, of Philadelphia (so justly celebrated for her inimitable Performances in Wax-work) was presented to her Majesty, and most graciously received; and it is said will very soon be employed in taking the Likenesses of the Royal Family.

August 1. Some letters by the last post from Holland advise, that a fleet was fitting out at Brest with great secrecy and expedition, the object of which was not publicly known.

It is reported that the post of Secretary of State for Scotland, which has lain dormant near forty years, will soon be revived. The late Marquis of Tweeddale was the last Secretary.

Extract of a letter from Petersburg, dated July 10, addressed to Prince Gallitzin, the Russian Minister at the Hague.

"Yesterday morning the Empress received a courier from the main army, with the agreeable news that, on the 22d of June last, Field Marshal Count Romanow passed the Danube, near Hirschhoff. His advanced guard, under command of the Lieutenants-General Stupachin and Potemkin, and Majors General Weismann and Prince Gallitzin, entirely defeated different Turkish corps, seized upon their entrenchments, together with all their baggage, and upwards of 30 pieces of brass cannon. The advanced guard is within three versts of Silistria. Marshal Romanow observes that, as soon as he has made himself master of Silistria, he will go in search of the Grand Visir, so that we may soon expect important news from that quarter."

Whatever may have been said to the contrary, the King of Prussia did not take possession of the district of Great Poland, situated between the Drage and the Netze, before he had published a Manifesto, in which he endeavoured to make out his right to all the countries known by the name of Polish Prussia: We are very certain that, whenever this great Prince shall lay claim to Hanover, he will, according to his usual method, make out first as good a title as he possibly can upon paper, and then seize the Electorate with a large body of troops.

An Extract of a letter from Constantinople, dated June 10, says, "Yesterday a number of Muscovite prisoners, amounting to near 3000, were led in triumph through the principal streets of this city, after the enslavement of the Grand Signor, who, in order the more effectually to secure himself, has for some days past given away bread, &c. to the populace. This is thought to have been done to lessen the ideas the people have long entertained of the Russian victories. Very frequent meetings are held at the Divan, to which no foreign Minister, except the English, French and Dutch, is admitted to. The Prussian Ambassador, on account of his Master's conduct with respect to the war with the Court of Russia, has had notice given him, not to leave the Ottoman dominions without leave. How this affair will be received, when known at Berlin, is a circumstance which is ardently expected to be known. Fresh supplies of troops are daily sending off to the army, but provisions for them are uncommonly scarce.

We are informed, that in the course of last week 150,000 l. were sent from the Tower to the Bank.

Extract of a letter from Moldavia, July 13.

"We have just obtained the following authentic account of an action between 9000 Janissaries and 2000 Spahis, under the command of the Bassa Saxe Hossin, and a body of 14,000 horse and foot, under the Russian Brigadier General Suwarow, near the city of Bialogrod, in the Province of Bessarabia."

"The Russian troops passed the Danube near Ohlneice, being detached from the grand army on the design of taking the city of Bialogrod, which is a place of the utmost importance, as it would insure the sole possession of Bessarabia, and likewise open a new communication with the Black Sea. The Grand Visir, having notice of this intention before it was put in execution, detached the above-mentioned force, under Saxe Hossin, to cross the river before the Russians, and impede their march."

"The Turks did cross the Danube before General Suwarow's army, but proceeded towards Bialogrod, judging, if they had that place in their rear, they might retire to it, if hardly pressed. They encamped in an advantageous situation, having a communication with the Town, and with Kilia on the right."

"The Russian army soon came up, and the Turks drew out of their entrenchments to meet them; but after two hours obstinate resistance they gave way, and fled towards the town, leaving their entrenchments, with all their baggage, &c. to the mercy of the enemy, who immediately entered, and took possession of them."

"The Turks fortified themselves in the town, which General Suwarow was besieging when the advices came away."

By letters from Petersburg we learn, that the Empress has lately exacted a large contribution from the Clergy of Russia.

Some letters from Dresden mention, that the Elector of Saxony still continues increasing his army, which now amounts to upwards of 50,000 men.

Extract of a letter from Leghorn, July 10.

"By a French ship, arrived here from the Archipelago, we are informed, that all the Greeks in the Morea have publicly and absolutely declared themselves subjects to the Empress of Russia, in consequence of which Count Orlov has landed a number of soldiers from his fleet, and taken possession of most of the principal towns and fortresses, in the name of her Imperial Majesty."

"Count Orlov, who, when the French came away, was lying with a large squadron at Tenedos, was preparing to sail on an expedition to the coast of Syria."

It is said that a messenger was yesterday sent to Lord Rochford, requesting his immediate attendance in town.

Some removes amongst the Governors of North-America are, it is said, now in agitation.

The King of Prussia has lately stopped a considerable quantity of planks, staves, &c. which the British Merchants at Dantzic had not only contracted for, but even given earnest; nor have the warmest remonstrances on the part of the factory, been able to obtain any redress. Application has been made, and a memorial presented by the Merchants of London to the Ministry on the same subject; but we are much mistaken if they meet with more success. The Merchants have entered into contracts with the Navy, and they must fulfil them.

Extract of a Letter from Hamburg, July 28.

"This being the age for setting up obsolete claims in Germany, and which have been attended with too much success, as the Claimants are too powerful to be argued with, it is to be feared the inhabitants of this trading city are on the eve of being great sufferers. Count Schomberg has set up some ancient claim on us, the nature of which, we are not fully informed of, and has laid his case before the Court of Vienna, and if it is allowed valid, which some say there is little doubt of, a neighbouring Monarch is ready to purchase the Count's right, and then we may be in a like situation with our neighbours the Dantzigers."

"According to the best historical account, this city was taken by Woldegar, Duke of Sleswick, about the year 1260, who gave it to Albrecht, Earl of Orlund, of whom the Citizens bought their liberty, and so became a free state; which was several times confirmed by the Earls of Holstein and Schauenburg, his posterity, to the last of that family, who died, A. 1459, after which, the province of Holstein, falling into the hands of Christian I. King of Denmark, the Hamburgers contracted a league of friendship with that Prince, whose successors have often endeavoured to have the protection of this city, but could never obtain it. In the year 1510, the city of Hamburg was declared free and imperial by the Emperor Maximilian in the Diet, and the Duke of Holstein summoned to make good his pretensions to it, or renounce them for ever. In fine, the city has to this day preserved its freedom, which it has been the better able to do, by reason of the continual jealousies between two Northern Crowns; however, the Dane has several times forced us; in the year 1679, he got 220,000 rix-dollars from us, to take us again into his favour, as it was termed in the treaty; and in the year 1686, he again brought an army and besieged us, but was bought off, and within those twelve years the Danes exacted another considerable sum."

It is said, that her Majesty was taken very ill on Thursday before she got to Kew, back from St. James's; and is now attended by Doctor Hunter, and Sir William Duncan.

Yesterday, after breaking up of the Levee, Lord North came unexpectedly to town, went to St. James's, had a conference with his Majesty, and in the evening set out for his seat at Busby Park.

An Evening Paper says, The Parliament of Ireland will meet in the second week of October next. It is a fixed measure that government will ask an aid of three hundred and eighty thousand pounds to discharge the arrears there, occasioned by the revenue failing: And it is as certain that this sum, large as it is, is not sufficient; owing to the establishment's being so heavily burthened with additional Placemen, Pensioners, &c. Moreover, as the revenue is found to fall so much short of the establishment, government will lay new taxes on that kingdom, to the amount of at least one hundred thousand pounds per annum. What are to be the objects of this new taxation are, at this time, under the consideration of the councils in both kingdoms. The linen manufacture in Ireland (which is the principal manufacture there) being so much decayed, many of the capital persons concerned in it have repeatedly and warmly solicited some relief; but government here perseveres against them.

It is said that three of the men of war now fitting out for sea at Portsmouth are destined for North America, and are to be ready for sailing the beginning of next month.

BOSTON, September 16.

On Thursday evening, a great number of people were assisting in raising the frame of a new meeting-house, in Wilton, New-Hampshire, one of the large beams accidentally gave way, when the greatest part of the frame, with fifty-three persons that were upon it, fell to the ground, by which unhappy event, three men were instantly killed, and fifty wounded, two of whom have since died of their wounds, and four more are thought to be past recovery. This accident has put by the raising for the present.

NEW-YORK, September 24.

On Friday, the 17th instant, at Morris Town, in East New-Jersey, was executed, David Reynolds, a native of Ireland, about 32 years of age, for counterfeiting the money bills of credit, of that colony. He arrived there about ten years ago, and chiefly followed the farming business, till getting acquainted with Rofencrans (executed some time ago for the like crime, but without declaring his accomplices) he was by him led into the scheme of making and passing counterfeit money. After the execution of Rofencrans, Reynolds accidentally met with Captain Richardson (of Philadelphia, who is fled) and getting acquainted with each others characters, was by him introduced to Ford, Haynes, Cooper, Budd, King, and the rest of the gang. Ford, the principal, termed by the rest, the treasurer of the three provinces, had counterfeited the money bills of New-York, New-Jersey, and Pennsylvania, in so masterly a manner, as not to be distinguished from the true bills without the nicest inspection, and also several of the gold and silver coins current in the British Colonies; and in passing these, Reynolds and the rest of the accomplices continued, till Ford and King were apprehended and imprisoned in Morris County goal, from whence they soon after made their escape, as mentioned in the papers. One of the gang being convicted of aiding them in their escape, and other high misdemeanors, to mitigate his punishment, made some confessions tending to the discovery of the rest, which alarmed another, who made an ample confession of the whole, in consequence of which, Reynolds, Haynes, Cooper and Budd, were tried, confessed their guilt, and were condemned to be hanged. Their execution was ordered to be on the 17th instant; before the time Budd and Haynes were reprieved for a month, but Reynolds and Cooper were ordered to prepare for execution at the time appointed. A few minutes before the time, Cooper confessed himself privy to the robbery of the Treasury at Amboy, and that he received 300 l. of the money; on which he also was reprieved till he should make further discoveries. Reynolds was therefore ordered for execution alone, at which he seemed much affected, and burst into tears, but through the assistance of a minister who attended him, he grew calm, and resigned to his fate. His behaviour during his confinement, and after his sentence, was penitent and submissive; he shewed a proper sensibility of his unhappy situation, and earnestly exhorted his companions in guilt to a sincere repentance. On the fatal day, he took an affecting leave of them; and they all discovered the most lively expressions of that distress to which their crimes and follies had reduced them, which drew tears from the eyes of the spectators. At the place of execution, Reynolds sung and prayed very earnestly, and in a short, but pathetic speech, warned the people to avoid the vices that had undone him, and earnestly requested them not to reflect on his innocent wife and helpless infants.

Cooper confessed that he was privy to the robbery of the Treasury at Amboy, and received 300 l. of the money, that it was concerted by Ford, and perpetrated by him and three soldiers then quartered there; that the plan was, first to attempt to carry off the iron chest, and if that failed, next to take the key from Mr. Skinner's bed-room, and to kill him or any person who should discover them; and that if afterwards any of them should be suspected and convicted, they were to turn King's evidence, and accuse Mr. Skinner as being the only accomplice with them. When some of them were shocked at this proposal, as thereby an innocent person might lose his life; Ford replied, no, damn him, he will only be condemned, he has friends enough to save him from the gallows. Thatafter breaking into the Treasurer's office, adjoining to his bed room, they attempted to carry off the chest, but finding it difficult, set it down again, and breaking open a desk in the room, in hopes to find money, they therein found an old key to the money chest, which was rusty, and thought unfit for use (the key then used being in Mr. Skinner's bed room) with this old key, they opened the iron chest, and thereby the lives that would have been exposed by their search for the other key, were probably preserved. The Governor and Council of New-Jersey are to meet in a few days, when further particulars relating to this matter will be known.

PHILADELPHIA, September 29.

To the Honourable JOHN PENN, Esq; one of the Proprietaries, and Governor and Commander in Chief of the Province of Pennsylvania,

The ADDRESS of the REPRESENTATIVES of the Freemen of the said Province, in General Assembly met.

May it please your HONOUR, PERMIT us, very sincerely, to congratulate you on your safe Return to this Province, and Re-accession to your Government.

The Harmony subsisting between the two Branches of the Legislature at the Time your private Affairs called for your Presence in Europe, and the Happiness that Harmony promised to the People, induce us to receive you again in the same Station and Character with very sensible Pleasure.

But, independent of this Consideration, the Resolution of one of the Proprietaries to assume the immediate Superintendence of the Province, gives us additional Satisfaction, as it is a Measure which has been wished, and even solicited for, by our Predecessors in Assembly, and is certainly founded in the soundest Policy; for we are confident the true Interests of the Proprietaries, and the People committed to their Care and Protection, are so firmly united, that they cannot be separated, without doing Violence to the Welfare and Happiness of both.

Impressed with these Sentiments, and convinced of your good Disposition to unite with us, in promoting the Common Weal, no Endeavours, on our Part, shall be wanting, to support the Honour and Dignity of your Government, and to secure to the Proprietaries and People their just Rights and Liberties.

September 24, 1773. Signed by Order of the House, JOSEPH GALLOWAY, Speaker.

THE GOVERNOR'S ANSWER.

GENTLEMEN, I ACCEPT with particular Pleasure your kind Congratulations, and the Assurances you are pleased to give me, that you will support the Honour and Dignity of my Government, for which I most heartily return you my warmest Thanks.

As it was ever my sincere Inclination to cultivate Harmony between the two Branches of the Legislature, during my former Administration, so you may be assured it shall be my future Care, while I have the Honour to preside in the Government of this Province, to cherish the same good Dispositions, as the surest Means of contributing to the Happiness and Prosperity of the People committed to my Care, with which I am thoroughly sensible the Interest of my Family is inseparably connected.

The Representatives of the Freemen of this Province may therefore rely on the Sincerity of my Profession, when I assure them, that while my Duty calls upon me to support the just Prerogatives of the Crown, and the Rights of the Proprietaries, I shall be happy in promoting the Welfare of the People, and protecting them in the Enjoyment of their invaluable Liberties and Privileges.

We hear that the Lady JULIANA PENN hath lately presented to the ASSEMBLY of this Province, a very elegant Bust of the Honourable THOMAS PENN, Esq; her Husband, one of our Proprietaries, performed in Wax Work, by Mrs. PATIENCE WRIGHT, an American born, and late of this City, which has been much admired by their Majesties, and most of the Nobility of England, and may be justly esteemed the Performance of a most extraordinary Genius.

Extract of a Letter from London, August 4.

"The East-India Company have come to a Resolution to send 600 Chests of Tea to Philadelphia, and the like Quantity to New-York and Boston; and their Intentions are to have Warehouses, and sell by public Sale four Times a Year, as they do here. Captain Cook was offered Part of that for Philadelphia, but refused it. I suppose they will charter Ships to take it in, as there are enough here will be glad of the Freight; but what will be the Consequence when they arrive on your Side the Water I know not; but suppose, even if it is allowed to be landed, you will hardly let it be sold."

We hear, that Summonses are issued for the General Assembly of New-Jersey to meet at Burlington, on the 10th of November next.

Captain Robinson, from Bristol, on the 24th ult. in Lat. 46: 53, Long. 38, spoke a Ship, Captain Gibson, from Virginia for London, out 24 Days, all well. The Ship Berkey, Captain Hood, the Ship Chalkley, Captain Spain, and the Ship Severn, Captain Hathorn, were to sail about the 24th of August, all for this Port. Captain Robinson informs, that they had a pleasing Prospect of a plentiful Harvest in England, and that they expected a considerable Fall in the Price of Wheat, Flour, &c. The Ship Kitty and Peggy, Captain Blair, belonging to this Port, was arrived at Bristol from Jamaica.

Messieurs HALL and SELLERS.

WHEN Pacificus ventured to appear an Advocate for a Reconciliation amongst the Friends of Liberty and the Constitution, he expected, and was therefore prepared for that Torrent of Scurrility, Abuse and Misrepresentation, which has appeared in the Pennsylvania Chronicle; for it needed not the Assistance of the most skilful Occultist (to borrow one of the many hackneyed Metaphors of the Mechanic) to see that the Importance, if not the very Existence of some Incendiaries, depended entirely upon a Spirit of Faction, which they have unhappily excited, and therefore they would collect their whole Force to render his Endeavours ineffectual; and had not the Mechanic discovered himself by his peculiar Talents for Obloquy and Abuse, as well as his particular Repentment against Americans, and the Heir Apparent to the Honours of the August House of Wharton, as he is pleased to stile his Adversary, also his Rage against Pacificus, for daring to insert his Piece in "ALL our Public Papers, except the CHRONICLE," perhaps Pacificus might have undertaken to have answered such Parts of his Piece, in which he could find, amidst the great "Urbanity" of the Author, any Degree of sober and decent Reasoning; but it was not Pacificus's Intention to become either a Party in the Author's Disputes with those Gentlemen, nor to support the Mechanic's Importance, by entering the Lists with him in a Way, which has rendered him so very distinguishable, and so very unhappy, as rather to excite Pacificus's Commiseration than Resentment. And notwithstanding Pacificus is attacked with great Virulence by the Mechanic, yet he has the Satisfaction to know, that his proposed Plan for a Reconciliation met with the Approbation of the Friends of Liberty, by the Mechanics fixing on such Men to represent us, as will meet with a general Concurrence, as well as by the Declaration of several of the principal Persons amongst both Parties; therefore, as Pacificus's Intentions are chiefly answered, he shall pay no more Regard to the malevolent, indecent, and angry Attacks of the Mechanic in future, but shall leave him to the Punishment in his own Breast, which is the natural Consequence of his Malevolence, that has prompted him to a Behaviour so elegantly and forcibly expressed by Dr. Garth.

"Since by no Arts" he "therefore can defeat
The happy Enterprizes of the Great," He'll "calmly stoop to more inferior Things,
And try if his LOV'D SNAKES have Teeth or Stings."
PACIFICUS.
